#DyslexiaYouAreNotAlone

"Being diagnosed with dyslexia, I have a personal mission to change the culture of how people with dyslexia are treated in classrooms across the country and around the world. I was fortunate to have amazing support from my family, friends and educators and my quest is to give back and support students with dyslexia in their post-secondary traditional or non-traditional education. Scholarships are for all students with identified learning challenge or adversity within the classroom in the areas of reading, writing, and/or spelling (official diagnosis of dyslexia not required). Educate. Advocate. Inspire. These are the words I live by and this scholarship offering is my demonstration of carrying out this mission." – Jared Blank
